

Battery cabinet batteries are not returned

Can I return a car battery?

Depending on the store and its policies, you may be able to return a car battery within a certain timeframe or under certain circumstances. For example, some stores have a 30-day or 60-day return policy for car batteries, while others may require the battery to be unused and in its original packaging.

Can you return a battery without a receipt?

Some places are flexible and might let you return a battery even without a receipt, as long as it's still in its original packaging and you're within the return window. But in many cases, you will need that receipt or proof of purchase. My advice? Always hang onto your receipt, just in case you need to make a return.

Can you return a battery if it's unused?

Generally, if the battery has been installed, it's considered used. Most stores require the battery to be in new and unused condition for a return. But if there's a defect, your warranty might cover it. Check the store's policy and your warranty terms for clarity.

Can you return a car battery at Walmart?

As you can see, battery returns are commonplace at Walmart. Don't worry - their policies make it easy to swap out any problematic batteries. Purchasing the wrong sized car battery is very common - vehicles come in so many makes and models that it can be tricky to find the perfect fit.
